

Prevent & End Homelessness... For Good

The Challenge

For the 350,000 New Yorkers without homes, trying to find help through the city's complicated maze of social services can be overwhelming and often made worse by confusing, outdated, or unreliable information. [1]

144%

A 144% increase in the city's shelter population in the last 12 months highlights the growing urgency of the homelessness crisis. [2]

40k

An estimated 40,000 young people (ages 16-24) in NYC don't have a stable home situation. [3]

1/3

More than one-third of homeless adults experienced homelessness as youths. [4]

Our Mission & Vision

Since 2015, Streetlives has provided free, accessible, and privacy-protected tools to connect unhoused or unstably housed people with reliable resources.

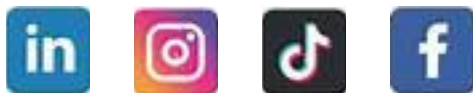

By helping unhoused young people now, we prevent them from becoming vulnerable adults with deeper mental health struggles, ultimately creating safer, stronger communities for everyone. Streetlives simplifies access to peer-validated supportive services through digital solutions.

[1] Basic facts about homelessness: Coalition for the homeless

[2] NYC Shelter Count: City Limits

[3] Data from NYC DYCD FY2023 programs

[4] Chamberlain & Johnson: Pathways into adult homelessness

With support from the 2022 New York City government initiative Opportunity Starts with a Home, we launched the pilot and release of YourPeer, our peer-powered, multilingual online platform. What makes YourPeer stand out is:

Community co-designed

All that we do is shaped by the real experiences and insights of people who have been unhoused.

Delivered by lived experts

We hire directly from the community, combining lived experience with professional skills to create practical solutions.

Our Impact

Since its launch in August 2023, over 11,500 people have found support through YourPeer. The platform continues to grow, reaching more individuals each day and keeping them engaged with the resources they need.

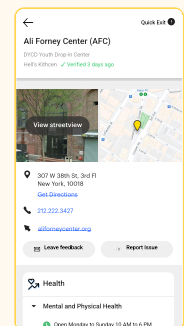

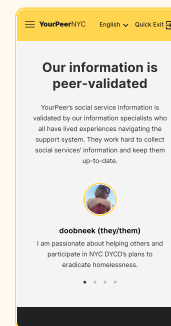

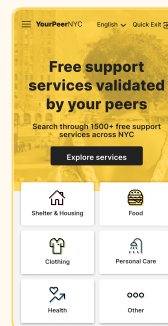

The most relevant community resource

With over 1,200 locations and 2,400 peer-validated social service providers and community programs, YourPeer is becoming a trusted resource. Users spend an average of 1 minute and 37 seconds engaging with the site—well above industry averages—and 77% stay actively involved, showing that people are finding real value in the support YourPeer offers.

Driving system change

Government programs and nonprofit tech providers are adopting Streetlives' peer-experience model, inspired by the success of YourPeer.

YOUR SUPPORT HELPS US:

- ✓ Help thousands find the services they need
- ✓ Make service information easier to access and more reliable for everyone
- ✓ Hire individuals with lived experience to create accurate, relevant content

REACH US:

yourpeerpartner@streetlives.nyc

Will you join us in improving pathways to sustainability?

